

Upstream Data Tool

Rapidly search, screen and compare growth opportunities across the world

Our Upstream Data Tool sets the industry standard to access upstream oil and gas data. It allows you to identify key assets and infrastructure, analyse trends and benchmark opportunities.

The intuitive, flexible design means you can view maps, charts and grids in a concise dashboard – all powered by our established comprehensive global asset and corporate dataset.

Using our Upstream Data Tool, you can quickly manipulate and interpret trusted proprietary information to inform exploration strategy, acquisition, development and competitive analysis.

Use it to:

- Assess potential opportunities at company, region or asset level
- Pinpoint trends and outliers using intuitive map interface
- Benchmark key thematic and financial metrics against peers and competitors
- Identify potential deals using specified criteria across an ever increasing array of data attributes
- Analyse potential development tie-backs for existing discoveries or yet-to-drill prospects
- Drill down by geography, company, field or basin
- Gain a clear, practical view of field production, value and costs
